At a meeting of the Selectmen Dec 26th 1696

Whereas the inhabitants of this town did at a town meeting May 26th 1696 vote that there should be a convenient cart way laid out from the meeting house to the Neck through the land of Joseph Fowler and Zacheus Goldsmith which they bought of the Executors of of E/M Thomas Smith late of Boston deceased as in and by said record more fully appears to pass through gates

The Selectmen have this day agreed with the said Joseph Fowler and Zacheus Goldsmith the proprietors of said land that there should be a convenient cart way for the inhabitants of our Town to pass too and from the Neck over their land where the way hath for many years last pass[d] gone and which way shall still be continued provided the town be at the cost of making and maintaining convenient gates for the ihabitants to pass through where they are needful the said Fowler and Goldsmith to provide the gates and the town to pay for them which way shall remain as a standing way for the inhabitants Except the proprietors of said land shall see cause to remove said way where it may be as convenient for the said Inhabitants to pas provided said Inhabitants be careful in the passing too and from over said land that they do not damage the said proprietors by leaving open their gates and in confirmation wheroff the said Joseph Fowler & Zacheus Goldsmith do oblidge themselves their heirs and Executors and administrators and in witness whereoff they have hereunto sett their hands the day and year above said

Joseph Fowler –
Zacheus Goldsmith

At a meeting of the Select men March 15 – 1696 Then agreed with John Dodge son of Lieut. John Dodge of Beverly for an accommodation of a convenient highway for our Inhabitants to pass over his said Dodges land in the Neck which he bought of John Fisk and for a full Isue and settlement of the said way the town shall have all the land belonging to said Dodge between the land of John Barr and Samuel Dodge which he bought of John Carpenter untill it comes to the south westerly corner of said Dodges called Carpenters bounds and from said Carpenters bounds so called on a line ten foot southward of a small white Oak tree standing near a little swamp and so along by the side of said swamp three foot from the edge of said swamp till it comes to a cleft rock and so to and old walnut stump and so rounding on the side of the hill untill it comes to a white oak tree standing in said John Dodge's fence and so as the fence now standeth until it cometh to the corner of said Dodge's fence and all the land laying to the southward of said line between that and Goodman Kilham and Goodman Barrs land which said piece of land containeth about six acres and one half to be common land and belong to the town of Wenham and to be free to the inhabitants thereof without any reclaim challeng or demand of him the said John Dodge his heirs executors administrators and in consideration whereof the town do allow and lay out to Richard Dodge Sen. in the right and assignee of the said John Dodge three acres of land in flaggy meadow plain adjoining to Richard's own land and to make up to said John Dodge full satisfaction for the above said land the selectmen have agreed in behalf of the town that the said Dodge in full satisfaction for the above said shall take in 6 polls of swamp land in width at the westwardly corner of his fence next to John Kilham's land and so to run northwardly on a line to a stake standing by the edge of the brook two poles westward of a stake standing near said Dodg's fence as now it standeth which is a corner bound of an acre of swampy land which was layd out to Samuel Kilham's bound on a line to a beach tree marked standing on the edge of Thomas Whites farm and from thence turning South Easterly to a heap of stones which is a corner bound of Thomas White's farm. This be a final Isue and settlement of the whole matter and in witness whereof the selectmen in behalf of the town on one part and John Dodge for himself and his Executors and administrators mutually set to their hands Allso it is agreed that the said John Dodge shall have the liberty of all the rocks on the land which the town hath of him except so many as shall be needful to be used about making the highway Allso it is agreed that the said six poles in width above mentioned is staked and settled to be and remain as the new fence is now set upon a slant from the corner.

April 7 1698 – There was two pounds fourteen shillings of the above sum of money delivered to Lieut William Fisk for the town's use who was one of the committee appointed to go and treat and agree with Doct Edward Well'd of Salem about the charges which he demands – and recovered judgment for against the Selectmen for what cost was expended about Mercy Fiske the widow while she lay sick and lame – The other six shillings the said John Newman demands for time expended about the measuring the land which was sold to E/M John Knowlton and drawing the deed. recording of it in the town's book and making sale of a strip of land to Serg$^{t}$

Thomas Patch and making an entree of it in the town book

Jan 1697/8 E/M Thomas Patch Entred upon rent with the town Eight shillings pr acre for eight acres of Town's land.

At a meeting of the Selectmen May 18 1698 for settling of highways —Complaint having been made to us the subscribers that there was several encroachments on the highways in that part of the town called the Neck we went upon the place to the end that we might see to our satisfaction and take effectual care that said highways might be preserved from encroachments they having been formally laid out and omitted to be entered – and we began at the gate of John Dennis house where the highway was formally laid out four poles in width and from thence Easterly the said highway is bounded on the north-easterly side with the twenty poles of land belonging to said Dennis house and by Nathaniel Waldren's land and Benjamin Edwards his land as the fence now standeth to the corner of said Benjamin Edwards near said Waldren's dwelling house and from the Alford's gate the said highway is bounded on the South wardly side with said Waldren's fence untill it comes to corner of his stone wall by his house and from thence turning toward the grist mill The highway is bounded on the south and westwardly sides as the said highway turneth John Barnes fence of his land as now it standeth and it bounded on the south Eastwardly side with John Dodge his fence to the mill river being the highway leading to Beverly and upon the highway leading from the town bridge commonly called Abby's bridge Eastwardly towards the common we did begin to the Southwestward of John Bare's house and we order that that strip of land which said Bare has taken in with his fence from the highway by setting his fence without the bounds made him when his land was laid out shall be laid open and said highway to be bounded on the South Eastwardly side with the said John Bare his line on the north westwardly side of his land untill it comes to the aforementioned highway leading to the mill, and said highway is bounded northwestwardly with the lands and bounds of Widdow Edwards – and Nathaniel Waldren to the aforesaid corner of his the said Waldren's stone wall by his house and from thence Easterly to the bridge at the grapevine so called the highway is bounded on the North Easterly side with the fences as now they stand to the said bridge at the grape vine so called and on the southerly side the said highway is bounded as John Dodge's fence now standeth untill it cometh to the brook below the bridge at the grapevine and as said highway was formally laid out. And whereas we find that John Dennis hath within his fence near his house part of that high way adjoining to Nathaniel Waldren's fence on the North Easterly side of said highway we do order that said fence be removed and said land so fenced in to be laid open and we allso finding that Nathaniel Waldren hath taken with his fence part of that highway near his garden we do order that his fence shall be removed to his line and the land so taken in belonging to the higway be laid open. And whereas we find that Thomas Patch hath taken in with his fence near the bridge at the grapevine aforesaid on the Easterly of the said highway a corner of land that is belonging to the highway Thereby where the highway is damaged we order that his fence be removed to the place where the fence fomerly stood and all the aforementioned ways we do agree to settle for town highways and order that they be entered and recorded in the town book by the town Clerk as Witness our our hands

Feb 3rd 1703/4 Then laid out to Sargent John Batchelder an acre of Swamp – on the north side of his land according as twas bounded – viz – a stump in his fence marked and a heap of stones at it, and from thence running northwardly about 8 poles to a stake standing in a spring and from thence turning East about 24 poles to a red oak – in his fence marked on four sides.

Also an acre — be it more or less to said John Batchelder in the right of his brother David Batchelder running from — the aforesaid red Oak — marked Easterly to a pine tree and marked it, and so on to a hemlock standing in said John Batchelder's fence and marked on four sides

Allso then laid out to Deacon William Fiske — and to his son Benjamin Fiske two acres of Swamp joining to said Benjamins land — and said Deacons meadow beginning one poll northerly from a white Oak marked on four sides — being a bound between John Batchelder and the above said Deacon Fiske, and from thence northward to a stake and heap of stones, and from thence on to a birch marked standing about ten poles from said Benjamin Fiske's upland, and from said birch to the North east corner of said Deacon Fiske's fence –

Allso laid out to Liut. Thomas Fiske about 120 poles of swamp which was to his content for an acre laying in a course of swamp – joining to his farm – about 33 poles Easterly from Wenham Causeway according the bounds marked – which was little maple marked on four sides near the upland and from thence southwesterly crossing said course about 12 poles to a Red Oak – marked on four sides

Att a Town meeting of the free-holders and other inhabitants of Wenham assembled Oct. 29 – 1700 by virtue of a warrant delivered to the constables under the hands of the Selectmen – dated Oct 22 of this Instant– October — Capt. Thomas Fiske was chosen moderator for the meeting –

Voted that whereas at a Town meeting the first of January 1692 it was agreed — that whereas there are several parcels of swamp land — in our common that are not beneficial to the public for Herbage – that such swamps should be allotted out to every free holder – in our town, an equal share, and that John Waldren and Zaccheus Goldsmith should have an equal share in such swamps – with any of the freeholders – and the committee appointed for the laying out of such swamps – have laid out to several persons in our town, their several shares by proportioning about an acre to a lot and there is many persons in our town, who have not yet had their divisions – It is therefore ordered that such persons, to whom such right belongs, that live Eastward of great pond brook with John Waldren to have their part laid out in that part of the common, between the said great pond brook – and John Coy's land on which he now dwells– and those of our freeholders – to whom such right belongs – that live west ward of great pond brook – to have their parts laid out in that part of the Common that is westward of said great pond brook –

Voted — that such of our freeholders, that live westward of the great pond brook, to whom the right of an acre belongs, and have not yet had their right, the said committee are ordered and empowered to lay out to such persons, either on the Southerly side of the Great Swamp – and elsewhere upon the common – where it may be the least damage to the public –

Voted that there shall be such a division made of all the common land — belonging to our town that lays on the east ward – of the brook running out of the pond joining John Coy's land and of said Coys land on a line from said Coy's now dwelling house to Rackoon marsh between Ipswich – Manchester & Beverly lines, and also of that piece of Common land that lays at the westerly end of our town near Lord's Hill socalled – as the town shall agree – to And it is to be understood that only the wood and timber that now is upon, or what shall hereafter grow is to be appropriated by said division – and the soil to remain to the town in general as formerly.

Voted that there shall be a list taken of the freeholders in our town, that are commoners. and all the wood and timber on the common land before mentioned, Eastward of the brook running out of the Pond — aforesaid and of John Coy's land — and on a line with said Coy's now dwelling house to Raccoon March — socalled between Ipswich, Manchester & Beverly Line, and allso that piece of Common land laying at the westwardly end of our Town near Lords Hill – shall be made into two divisions – and all the freeholders being commoners that live westward of said great pond brook – shall have one of the divisions, and the freeholders and inhabitants that live Eastward of sd great pond brook – shall have the other division

The said division to be made and proportioned according to the number of freeholders, being commoners that belong to each division –

Voted — that Ensign John Porter, William Fairfield, John Enman, Benjamin Edwards, and John Dodge are chosen a committee and fully empowered to make and complete the division of the common land eastward of the brook running out of the pond adjoining to John Coy's land, and of said Coy's land and of a line from said Coy's now dwelling house to Raccoon Marsh so called, between Ipswich, Manchester and Beverly line, and all so that piece of common land laying to the westerly end of our town near Lord's hill, by making bounds on the land for the appropriating of the wood and timber that now is or hereafter shall grow upon the same to the proprietors to whom each division shall belong.

Voted — that no person or persons in our town, shall fall or cut any tree or trees on the common land laying eastward of the brook, running out of the pond adjoining to John Coy's land, and of said Coy's land, and of the from said Coy's now dwelling house to Raccoon Marsh so called, between Ipswich Manchester and Beverly line, and allso that piece of common land laying at the west-redly end of our town, near Lords hill so called, on the penalty of twenty shillings per tree, to be paid to the town treasurer for the towns use, and in case of refusal to be taken by distress by the constable by warrant from the selectmen, until such time as the said division shall be made for the appropriation of the wood and timber on said land.

At a town meeting of the free holders and inhabitants of Wenham being commoners assembled Nov. 25 — 1700 according to the warrant of the Selectman dated 18th Instant . Lt. William Fisk was by the majority of the votes chosen moderator but there being a difference among the inhabitants about it, he refused to accept of the place as then chosen, whereupon they proceeded to a new choice by a division of the inhabitants, and then Capt. Thomas Fisk was chosen Moderator. Voted — that whereas there was a difference amongst the freeholders and inhabitants of our town, that are commoners, about the divisions that were made, at the adjournment of the town meeting on the second day of Jan. 1698— of our common land and for the appropriating of the wood and timber on each of said divisions, and many alleging that the said divisions are very uneqal, it is there ordered that there shall be a committee chosen and appointed, to go and take a view of the wood and timber on each of said divisions and to make a report of their judgment con-searing the same to the town at the next town meeting. which is to be on the third day of December next ensuing. Voted that Ensign John Porter, Sagent Freind, Thomas Kemball, Thomas Patch Senr. John Dodge, and John Barr. are chosen a committee for to attend to said service to take a view of the timber and wood on each of the divisions of land that were made at the adjournment of the town meeting on the 2nd of Jan. 1698 and to make a report to the town how they find the same.

The question being put whether the town would order the Selectmen to make a rate to satisfy for town highways it was voted in the negitive.

At a meeting of the commoners march 6th 1704-5

Voted by the commoners that Thomas Fisk Senr is appointed moderator in our commoners meeting abovesaid.

Voted that all the commoners in our town shall have an equal share for quantity and quality in whatever division they shall agree to make.

voted that all convenient highways shall be provided for first, then that all our common land shall be divided according to the rule already agreed on.

voted that the commoners shall meet again at the meeting house tomorrow the 7th of March at 9 of the clock in the morning to prosecute the above said division of our common land.

March 7th 1704-5. voted that all convenient ways shall be first provided for to accomodate every division and then that all our common lands shall be divided according to the rule allready agreed upon.

voted that all our commoners shall tie themselves together by eight common rights further and that the commoners together shall have power to choose one of themselves chosen by each division for making the abovesaid division and setting out to every company so agreeing, an equal part of every several piece and parcel of our common land that shall remain, when they have first set out and staked convenient highways for the use of our inhabitants, after it shall be divided, as allso to divide by drawing lots for which division or part shall belong to every eight shares of common rights, and allso that every eighth as above said shall satisfy the the person severally, by them chosen for their Labour. And in case any shall refuse to act, as above said in joining with others to prosecute the division the division abovesaid.

Then the commoners by their majority vote shall choose meet persons to tie them together by Eights as will as they can, and allso to take care that they shall have their equal shares set out as any other above said, which notwithstanding remain to be accounted Common untill they make just satisfaction to those that have been employed about the division and as abovesaid.

And in case any eight shall disagree in useing their parts together or refuse to divide between themselves to satisfaction, the commoners at their meeting shall choose three indifferent men to make and set out to any one that shall be agreived with his equal of every several division belonging to such eighth rights and the cost to be defrayed by the whole eighth. And it is allso agreed and determined that there shall be laid out for every eight commoners sued together as aforesaid, one lot in each parcel of woodland and likewise in parcel of common land in said town where the wood is allready much wasted and taken from it, and the division between the land called wood land and other land is to be made by the persons that shall be appointed out of each eight men.

Voted that it shall not be lawful for any person or persons whatever to fell or cut or cary off any wood or timber upon anv part of our common until the division agreed upon and entered be perfected, or for the space of twelve months from this present date upon the penalty of ten shillings for every tree under a foot over at the stump so felled or cut or caryed away; to be forfeited to the use of the commoners to be recovered before any justice of peace before whom the case shall be prosecuted by any person who shall be empowered by the commoners. the wood and timber allready felled or cut up or wrought into timber is exempted.

Voted that the town Clerk is Chosen Clerk of the commoners to enter their several lots and divisions in the town books and grant out coppies as there shall be occasion

Voted that Ensign Fairfield, Serjant Thomas Patch and Thomas Fisk Senr. are appointed a committe to take notice of all claims that shall be made of any person to a right of commonage in our town and to make report thereof to the commoners at their meeting

Voted that there shall be a commoners meeting on tuesday next at one of the clock in the afternoon at the meeting house.

At a meeting of the commoners March 13 1704

We whose names are underwritten, finding several persons that claims a right or several rights upon the account of old Cellars or Cottages in old ten acre lots, whereoff three or four are now within our small living, although they cannot produce deeds of conveyance the which to allow would be very unjust but finding the rule which is agreed on to decide by, was to give to all those that the town have allowed to be Commoners as good and as large a share, as any that have a right by law. We said no damage to the one part nor profit to the other wether they had more rights than one or not. And so we allowed none but what are in our town book and those allowed by the town.

Voted that there shall be a commoners meeting at the meeting house on the 26th day of March Instant at 12 of the clock. Thomas Fisk.

Walter Fairfield and Thomas Patch

March 15th 1704 Then received of the town treasurer for the town upon the account of the bell, the sum of twenty six pounds, one shilling seven pence — Witness my hand John Porter.

Wenham January 12th. 1704-5

Whereas we the free holders being commoners having by law a right to order and dipose of our undivided land in our town have formally endeavoured to preserve the wood and timber upon it for the use and benefit of us and those that may succeed us, but finding all that hitherto has been done and and all that we understand how to contrive to do., will not prevent the sudden and unmanageable ruin of the town by the unjust and unreasonable waiste that is dav bv day made by carrying the wood and timber out of town and allso by the improvident using of it in common; and therefore for the preserving of the little that is left we do see a necessity forthwith to divide all our common land except such as the majority part of the commoners being met together shall cause to be forever for the use of the public. And we whose names are hereunto Subscribed do agree and consent that the said Common land in our town shall be divided amongst the commoners of our town according as it shall be agreed unto by the majority part of the commoners being orderly met together. And all things that are necessary to be acted both for the matter and manner of said division shall be determined and settled by the majority part of the commoners that then shall meet together, And further we do agree that upon notice in writing under the hands of two of the selectmen for the time and place of meeting for the doeing of what is above specified, shall be sufficient notice and warning for said meeting.

Wenham October 31st 1704 Whereas formerly there was a highway laid out by an agreement of the propritors of the land on which it was, at the west end of our town and for as much as the said agreement was not perfected and —— completed for a sufficient settlement of the said Highway, there having since happened such differences as could not be accomadated amongst themselves so that there have been several necessary complaints by several of the inhabitants of our town made unto us the subscribers hereof for want of a highway to come to the town to the meeting and about their necessary ocasions requesting us to lay out the said highway, we finding it of necessity to be done

And at a meeting of Selectmen October 16th 1704 we laid out a highway to accomodate the said Inhabitants. beginning at the country road at the southwest corner of Lieut John Porters his orchard, formerly Mr. Newmans and staking it out two poles in breadth on the side of said Porter his fence unto Samuel Kimbal his land, which was formerly Samuel Moultons, and so we went to the west end of our town and laid out the said highway in the same place where it hath formerly been, and now is used for a way for the proprietors and any others to use as a highway we laid out said way two poles or rods wide. but wher we found it fenced on both sides, although it wanted two or three feet, we did not order the fence to be removed, and after the aforesaid manner, said highway is laid out, from the county road, first mentioned, until it comes past joseph hachers, fenced land near his house, unto the cart gate, where the said highway ends.

the aforesaid highway with respect to Gates and fences by bars on the same on just and equal satisfaction for any of the damage which the propritors of the land may sustain thereby is left to be done as occasion shall serve, as the law directs. We do hereby order the town clerk to enter the above, written in the town book

William Fairfield town clerk

I have warned the inhabitants of our town, according to the within written warrant witness my hand William Dodge Constable of Wenham
Pursuant to the order of the free holders being Commoners and propritors of the common land in our town bearing Date March 6th 1704-5 whereby we whose names are hereunto Subscribed did Nov 28 1705 begin to measure and lay out our common land called the greate Swamp, into Nine divisions viz; to every division Eight Common Rights and in order thereunto we began at the spring on the Ipswich line and measured 160 poles easterly and from thence squared a line to the south side of said swamp 160 poles from the fence on the Great meadow and upon said line we layed out and started a highway, one pole and one half wide and began to number lots, the west part of every division from Ipswich line and allso the east part lying on the east side of said highway we bagan to number from the Ipswich line.

The first division beginneth upon the Ipswich line on the wast side of said highway and is from a maple tree on the Ipswich line marked on four sides and one with a marking Iron thirty one poles to a beach stump, marked on the west side of the highway and is in breadth twenty seven poles from the spring on the Ipswich line to a maple marked one with a marking Iron.

And the second division is from the beach stump to a small pine marked two and is twenty six poles in breadth at the highway and at the west end joining to the great meadow twenty six poles from the first to a maple marked on four sides and two with a marking Iron.

The bounds of the third lot is to a maple marked on four sides twenty six poles at the west end and twenty six poles at the highway, from the second lot to a hollow pine marked on four sides and three with a marking Iron

The fouth lot twenty six poles in breadth at the highway to a great maple marked 4 with a marking Iron, and at the west end twenty seven poles in breadth to a pine marked on four sides.

The bounds of the fifth lot is a maple bush marked on four sides and from the fourth at the west end and at the highway twenty six poles wide to a little beach marked five.

The sixth lot is twenty seven poles wide to a little beach marked six at the highway and at the west end twenty eight to a maple marked on four sides.

The seventh lot is twenty seven poles wide at the west end to a maple marked on four sides and at the highway twenty eight poles wide to a little pine marked seven

The Eighth lot is thirty poles wide at the the highway to a little maple marked eight and at the west end twenty nine poles to a birch marked on four sides.

The ninth lot is forty six poles wide at the West end to a maple marked which includes Taylors Fisks 2 acres and thence down Southerly upon Deacon Fisks land down to the highway including all the common land.
The bounds of the divisions on the east side of the highway are as follows. the first begins at Ipswich line and from thence fifteen poles wide at the highway to a birch marked one, and bearing the same width down to pleasant pond.
The second lot is sixteen poles wide from the birch at the highway to a little beach marked two, and thence running Eastward the same width to a hemlock marked two and so to the pond, if there be common land enough.
The third division is eighteen poles wide at the highway to a maple marked and at the east end eighteen poles to a buttonwood tree, marked taking in all the common land that breadth as far as it goeth.

The fourth division is eighteen poles wide at the highway to a pine marked four, and at the east end the same width to a pine tree marked four and so running on to the outside of the common land.

The fifth division is in breadth from the fourth at the highway twenty poles to a maple marked five and at the east end to a hemlock marked five, and so to the end of the common,

The sixth lot is bounded at the highway 20 poles in breadth to a pine marked 6 and at the east end to a pine at the corner of Wildmans Neck, marked 6 and so on to the end of the common.

The bounds of the seventh lot is upon the highway 45 poles to a hemlock marked 7 upon wolf Island and easterly forty poles from a little pine marked in the corner of wildmans neck to a hemlock marked 7.

The bounds of the eighth lot is from the seventh lot upon the highway fifty three poles to a little maple marked 8 and eastward to a hemlock standing by Thomas Kemballs land marked eight, all the common land between said bounds and Samuel Kemballs bounds, reserving what soever therein Robert Symonds have right unto.

The bounds of the ninth lot is all the common land between the 8th lot and a hemlock stumpt about 10 poles northward from John Batchelders fence and allso southerly by said Batchelders which was laid out to him by the Selectmen and from his westernmost bounds in Benjamin Fisks fence, turning thence to a maple marked which is the corner of the westerly ninth lot, leaving a a highway 2 poles wide. all the rest belongs to the 9th lot on the east allways provided the two divisions of lots are to be accounted but one, and are to be coupled together as followeth.

the first lot on the west hath the 7th on the east belonging to it, and the second on the west hath the ninth on the east, the third on the west hath the eighth on the east, the fourth on the west hath the fourth on the east
the fifth on the west hath the fifth on the east.
the sixth on the west hath the 6th on the east the 7th on the west hath the third on the east the eighth on the west hath the second on the east the ninth on the west hath the first on the east.
which nine divisions containe all the common land belonging to the great swamp, and are laid out by us the subscribers being a committee chosen by the commoners for said service, Witness our hands Dec 6th 1705

Those who drew lots, and had the first lot of common at the east end of our town March 26 1705 drew the seventh division in the swamp.

Dec 9, 1705

those who drew the second in the east drew all the second in the swamp.

those who drew the third lot for the east drew the fifth for the swamp those who drew the fourth at the east drew seventh for the swamp those who drew the fifth for the east drew the sixth for the swamp those who drew the sixth for the east drew the fourth for the swamp.
those who drew the seventh for the east, drew the eighth for the swamp.
those who drew the eighth for the east drew the ninth for the swamp, those who drew the ninth for the east drew the third for the swamp.

At a meeting of the Selectmen Dec 8th 1705
Then laid out a highway into the great swamp from the open highway at the west end of our town through Sargent John Batchelders land within thirty poles easterly from his house, to be a convenient highway for carts and to drive cattle from time to time, together with half an acre of land for a landing place to lay wood and timber as there shall be occasion to be on the east side of the highway at the swamp side, twelve poles in length from the high way and seven poles in breadth by the waysside. said Batchelder is to keep convenient bars upon said waye from time to time, and for satisfaction the selectmen have laid him out about three acres of swamp land which is in full and to his content. Beginning at the said Batchelders meadow and thence northward to a hemlock stump at the edge of Thomas Kimballs Island, which allso is the bounds of the ninth lot of swamp and from thence westerly to a stake and heap of stones — about forty poles from said stump which is about fifteen poles northerly from a red oak marked standing in said Batchelders fence at his bars and from thence westerly to a stake and heap of stones in benjamin fisks fence being allso the corner bounds of deacon fisks and Benjamin Fisks acres of swamp, including all the common swamp lying Southerly from said line.

Know all men by these presents that whereas we whose names are under written thomas Fisk senr on the one part and Thomas Kimball on the other part have each of them received a grant or division of land. viz. to said Thomas Fisk a division or lot in the great swamp called the first division as it is entered and recorded in this book of records dec 9th 1705 and said Thomas Kimball had a grant in the ninth division at the east end of our town as it standeth recorded allso in this book of records, laid out according to an order of the commoners march 7th 1704, we the above named have exchanged each with the other and do for ourselves and our heirs forever make over each to the other and confirm this their exchange of the above said grants or lots of said lands and in consequence confirmation thereof have set our hands at a meeting of the Selectmen Oct 10th 1706 — Then laid out to Deacon James Freind a piece of common land joining to his own and near Lords Hill in satisfaction for his damage done by laying out a highway over his land to go from Wenham to Beverly where it is now used, and allso for his acre of swamp drew to him by town vote, beginning at Lieut John Porter northeast corner of his 40 acres and so on a Straight line towards the Southwest to a stake at the corner of his fence and then turning upon the fence four poles to a red or black oak tree marked from thence westerly to John Batchelders corner bounds and so bounding southwesterly on said Batchelder and Theophilus Rix 19 poles wide to a stump marked and set about with stones, thence running east twenty seven poles to a stake near his own corner bounds and so including all the common between the bounds above mentioned and his own land containing about five acres be it more or less

Allso then laid out to William Fairfield about one acre and one half of common land adjioining to that which the Selectmen laid him out march 20th 1704, being six poles and 1-4 in breadth. next the Herrick land, and five poles and 3-4 upon a square line at Lieut Porters line which is in Satisfaction to said Fairfield for four pounds five shillings and eight pence paid by said Fairfield to Joseph Batchelder in full satisfaction to said Batchelder for the highway laid over his land by the selectmen Oct 31st 1704 as by the town records may appear. Allso then laid out to Charles Gott Junr. an acre and 23 poles of land adjoining to that which Theophelus Rix had of the town for the highway on the north west side of it and bounded on John Batchelder northward ten poles and one quarter and by the other common land westwardly seventeen poles and Southwardly upon Josiah Hacker, untill it cometh to Goodman Rix's land eleven poles, which land is in satisfaction for goodman Perkins his highway laid out over said Gotts land by the Selectmen April 30th 1706 at a meeting of the selectmen April 30th 1706 then laid outt a highway over land of John Gott Junr to accommodate John Perkins to come to the country road beginning at the country road near said Gott Barn and so along the westerly side of said Gotts Orchard about 14 foot in breadth, being in the same place as it is now bounded where said Gott and Perkins use the way, they claim as purchased of Mr. John Newman, which goeth from the country road to said Gotts own land, and then one pole in breadth on the easterly side of his land untill it cometh to the land of Capt. Fisk Senr. and then turning upon said Gotts land one pole wide over to goodman Perkins his own land, which way so staked and paid for is only for the particular use of said Perkins and his successors useing of that living and passing through gates or bars where there is occasion for fencing the fee simple of the land remains in said Gott as it did before. Paid for and satisfaction taken by mutual consent as witness our hands.
